Welcome back, we hope you had a lovely week off in this glorious weather and crammed in loads of fun things. Did you manage to do any of the activities that are shown in the word search?

Here is what we have been up to this week...

The college students have been learning how to “cut in” in their painting and decorating session in their Construction course. One of the students said “I would say that cutting in is hard but it is good and interesting”

The Catering group have been trying out hospitality training at York College this term. This has included providing customer service at the atrium food counter, setting up tables in the restaurant, participating in table service roleplay and preparing fruit cocktails - some great experiences and excellent work from all the students!

One of our Governors Reverend Sue Binks came in on Tuesday to do an assembly, which was the first in a very long time. It was absolutely lovely to be all together again. She talked about how we all work together no matter what race, shape, religion etc. She showed the children an example using skittles and water to prove that no matter what differences we have as individuals we still all merge together in the end.

The children also added their thoughts to a prayer tree.

Lower Semi-Formal have been enjoying the Summer vibes but still working hard. Ice lollies were definitely required whilst on their 'Out and About' session this week. In English they are looking at Non-Fiction Features and Texts and the children have created a very informative notice board. They have been making their own leaflets about how to stay safe in the sun too by applying lots of cream and drinking plenty of fluids.

At the Helmsley Bird of Prey Centre, the work experience team tried their hand at something different this week by cleaning out the King Vulture's enclosure, it was hard work but they did a thorough job and what a difference it made! Well done team.
