

Welburn Hall Weekly

Friday 10th December 2021

What a week it has been. We are on the final countdown and everybody is ready for some festive fun. Almost everyone turned up looking Christmassy today so thank you to those of you who rushed out to buy last minute Christmas jumpers (just like I did!) and to those who sent donations in. Our aim is to beat what we raised last year for the charity Save The Children.

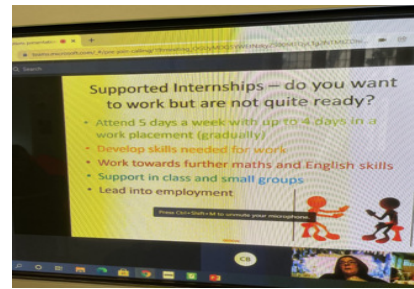

Today we have our Christmas lunch and a children's tombola, a disco, a raffle (which will be posted on Facebook) and a visit from the local police and fire service so next week's edition will be a bumper pack full of photos.

For those of you who are on pupil premium (Free School Meals) there will be a North Yorkshire County Council Christmas activity bag sent out at the end of next week.

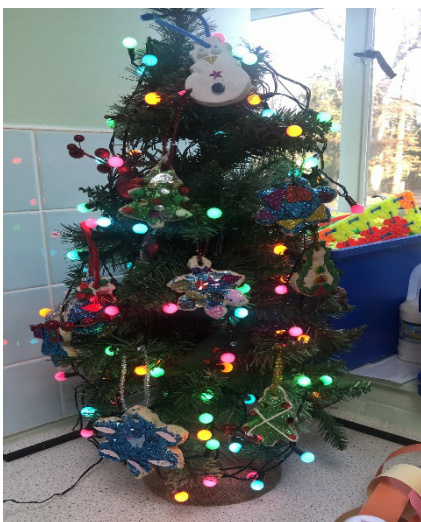

The Panathlon Foundation is a sports charity that enables children with disabilities in England to have competitive sporting opportunities. This week around 40 of our children had great fun competing in the challenge, everybody worked extremely hard and those who won medals were very proud of themselves as they should be. Thank you to our ATA Dave James for organising it.

Our careers advisor did a virtual talk about Post-19 options to students in year 10-14. Anne spoke to us about Further education, specialist collages, supported internships and apprenticeships. The students asked some great questions and found the information really informative.

A few photos from Work Experience to show the differing jobs the guys did this week. They helped to put new sand in an Avery, cleared leaves from the grounds, washed down bird houses and feeding trays and filled up the bio security liquid to stop the spread of bird flu.

The college students brought in money and the care team took them out shopping for Christmas presents for their family and friends. They each then wrapped their own presents up and very neatly I would say. Well done everyone.

Lower Semi-Formal got creative and made some salt dough decorations which they then put on their class tree. They look fab!

A huge well done to two of our Upper Formal KS5 students who each won a £15 Amazon voucher and a selection box for creating these beautiful Christmas cards. Watch out Clintons!

There will be new menus for the start of next term which will be sent out to you all via email today. Please send us your children's choices preferably before the end of next week so that orders can be placed from suppliers. If your child chooses an option but does not like it they will be able to change to the second option for the remainder of the term.

That is all from us today. Short but sweet!

We wish you all a wonderful weekend and we will see you on Monday for the final week 😊
