

Welburn Hall Weekly

Wednesday 11th May 2022

Hello everyone.

We hope you had a great half term break for Easter and have settled nicely back into a routine. In a week where we have seen various horror tales in the news we have also seen some positive things that keep our faith in the greatness of mankind such as the teenage treasure hunter who combed a river bottom with a heavy-duty magnet and pulled a safe containing thousands of dollars then returned the money to its rightful owner. There have also been stories that just generally make you feel good like the tiny dog named Patron that was awarded with a medal for continually saving the people of Ukraine by sniffing out bombs aka “gifts of the Russian world” and the local Yorkshire fireman who rescued five sheep from a rooftop of a house... I guess it was a case of ‘all’s wool that ends wool’ there!

It’s all fair and well discussing the news though but what you really want to know is what WE have been up to don’t you? Let’s see...

In Mrs Marr’s PDE lesson, some Formal KS5 students found out about what to do in emergency situations and practiced CPR on our mannequins. They remained calm and alert and would make great life savers one day!

We would just like to wish our Upper Formal Key Stage 4 & 5 students the best of luck with their exams this week, we are sure you will do a fantastic job. 😊

Upper informal participating in music lessons with Will Fletcher was great fun and the children explored many different instruments and sounds.

Linda Riveros was born without arms; however, she didn't allow that to stop her from becoming an artist and creating art for her exhibition which was called "painting with my feet". Linda's first picture she painted was a palm tree on canvas.

Pupils and staff were inspired by Linda so for 'Disability Awareness Day' they tried to copy her fantastic art work by also painting with only a paintbrush in-between their toes. Some found this easy and some tricky. The children experienced sensory painting with other body parts as well and used the palms of their hands to make a large hand print tree followed by mono printing, scrape silhouette painting and blindfold drawing. The pupils found it both entertaining and challenging and a great time was had by everyone. Some of the end results were really beautiful.

Nurture 2 have begun their Roman topic. We have started to make 3D maps of Italy and explored the Roman Republic. We enjoyed reading about some of the funniest laws, which are still used today. Our favourite was 'It is an offence to handle a salmon whilst looking suspicious.' At the end of last week, we tested our 'Egg Drop Challenge' contraptions. All eggs remained intact - great creative skills and scientific knowledge, boys!

Priest Earth Organic Farm
 Welcome to our Milk Shed
 Please serve yourself our fresh pasteurised whole organic milk
 Our milk is not homogenised, so the cream will float to the top when in your fridge. A quick shake is all that is needed to mix back in. It is a natural product and may vary with the seasons.
 Please use your own bottles if you wish, or we have glass bottles for you to buy and refill as often as you want.
 Milk 10 - UKR1015

On Monday the Upper Informal class went up to a local farm to get milk in reusable glass bottles. They enjoyed filling up the bottles from the farm and then drinking it at snack time.

For Our relaxed curriculum day, as well as the sensory painting, everybody had a chance to experience the feeling of being in a wheelchair and participated in games in the courtyard and free time was had looking after the animals on the farm. I think the Alpaca was happy with his company!
