Welburn Hall School

Extremely cold weather, dark evenings/ mornings (and a reluctance to get out of that snugly warm bed), pretty lights everywhere, festive music and the feel of excitement in the air can only mean one thing. . . Next week is the final countdown until the Christmas holidays and are we ready for it? We sure are!

Happy

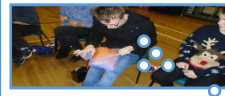

Jolly

Merry

On Wednesday our college students celebrated with a Christmas Themed lunch which our very own Enterprise Team made. They helped set up the main hall, sang Christmas songs, pulled crackers, ate turkey dinner with all the trimmings then had a visit from our very own Santa Claus and played pass the parcel. Our school children also enjoyed a dinner in their bubbles, with all of the trimmings, made by our dedicated kitchen staff. A great big thank you to all staff and students involved for their joint efforts. Well Done.

Thank you to those that participated and donated towards Save the Children Christmas Jumper day. We will let you know how much we managed to raise in next week's edition.

MR WESTERN'S CLASS

MR SCOTT'S CLASS

MRS OWEN'S CLASS

On Tuesday Mr Scott's class made cheese whirls. They were able to incorporate their maths skills by weighing and dividing the ingredients. They measured the pastry roll and divided it into equal pieces and as you can see the result was fantastic. Not only did they look amazing but they tasted delicious too.

Keep up the hard work boys.

Maybe those cooking skills could be put to the test over the holidays? If you do decide to get creative then share it on our Facebook page, we would love to see.

For Performing Arts lesson on a Wednesday morning, Jane and Lauren have been working with Mrs Clapton's class on devising their own Christmas play. The children chose all the characters themselves and wanted to include their class bunny Indie so, following a group discussion, they came up with "The Tale of the Missing Carrots". They have put together ideas for the script which has been written both by themselves and staff. To say that they have only been working on this since Half Term, so have not had long to create it, they have shown patience and dedication and have done a great job in making their teachers proud. They are now in the process of trying to piece it together to make the film so watch this space for 2020's movie of the year!

Next week, each school child (college students not included) will be receiving a pack to create their own Christingle. These have been lovingly created by The Messy Church Team and our Governor Reverend Sue Binks. Please find details for the YouTube link below if you wish to have more information on this.

As of the start of January Term, we will have new school dinner menus. These will be sent with next week's newsletter. We are hoping to get a record of what each child would like for each term. More info to follow...

That's it from us this week.

HO HOHO- pefully you enjoyed reading what we have been up to.
Have a great weekend. See you on Monday!
