

Welburn Hall Weekly

Wednesday 23rd March 2022

Good morning everybody. It is now officially Spring and what a beautiful week it has been so far! The flowers are in bloom, light jackets and sunglasses are out in force and there is a general feeling of happiness in the air as... let's face it, we are all quite fed up of the cold now! There are only a couple more weeks to go until the children have their well earned half term Spring break so, in true Welburn style, we have been trying to cram lots of fun and learning into our week. Here's what we have been up to...

Miss Hodgson's class went to Castle Howard to check out the new Skelf Island Play park which has a rope bridge over the lake. It was scary! They played in the tree top adventure park, had lunch at the boating lake and looked at some amazing statues. Each of the students have recently acquired a hamster which they must look after and take home each weekend / holiday. So far, we have Hamilton and Flash but the third one is yet to be named. The students collected donations from Scallywags pet shop in Kirkbymoorside before going for a treat at Thompsons Fish and Chip Shop.

Reverends Sue and Melanie took assembly this week. They used tabards and swords to represent different things that we could be fearful of then discussed ways in which we could overcome them. The children were very interested and eager to participate in dressing up. As usual we were not disappointed in the service which we received from these two lovely ladies. Thank you for always bringing us positivity and kindness!

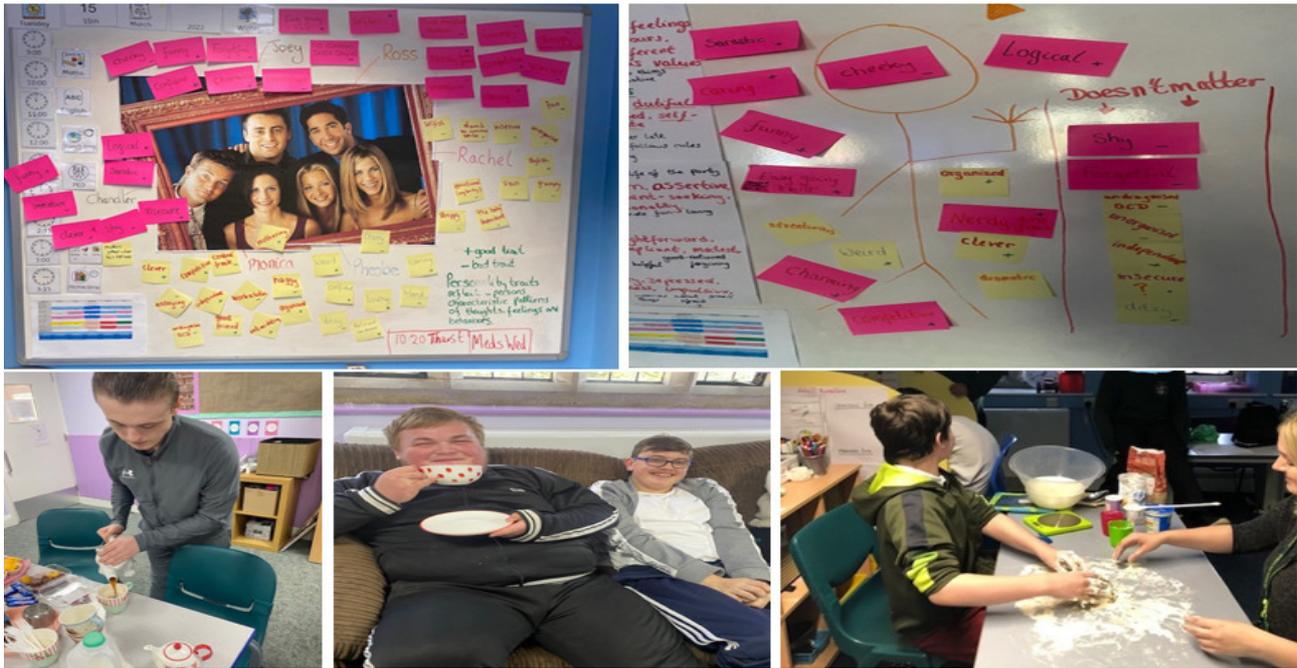

Lower Semi-Formal class have done exceptionally well with their Daffodil sales to raise money which will contribute towards both the Comic Relief Ukraine Appeal and Enterprise for a class Summer Trip. They are continuing to sell bunches this week especially with Mother's Day approaching but so far have raised just over £100!! They enjoyed the warm sunshine and had their PE Tennis lesson outside which was a nice change.

Here at Welburn, we believe that Work Experience is a vital part of a student's journey into adulthood. Any volunteering experience enables them to get a feel for professional working environments. We are so lucky to be able to take our students to the National Centre for Birds of Prey where they are able to enhance their knowledge about the birds as well as contribute towards maintaining the cleanliness of a public area. As you can see, this aviary was really dirty before our team got to work with the power wash and some elbow grease. They left it sparking. A job to be proud of, we are sure you will become very hard workers in the future.

The One with Friendships in Central Perk!

Nurture 2 have spent the week learning about friendships, personal traits and qualities that we see in ourselves and others. We invited a small group of children we're starting to form friendships with to our café, Central Perk, and provided drinks and homemade cakes which went down a treat!

Mrs Foy's class enjoyed the beautiful weather and had a walk to a very tall tree in the grounds which they named 'The Tell Me Tree'. They have been reading a story by the same name which invites the students to share how they are feeling by either signing, expressing themselves verbally or drawing.

Did you know

- You could be missing out on £450 of free school meals
- All children in Reception and Years 1 and 2 are entitled to free school meals
