

Welburn Hall Weekly

Friday 26th February 2021

Welburn Hall School

Welcome back everyone and we hope you had a great half term break. This week has once again flown past us and as the bulbs start to shoot up from the ground with what promises to be a bright Spring, we have a few upcoming events/calendar dates that we would like to alert you to...

Thursday 4th March sees the return of World Book Day. As usual we would love to see our pupils really letting go with their creativity and dressing up as their favourite story characters.

Each classroom will be participating in their own group activities which promote mental health and relate to reading such as positive Q&A storytelling and creating small video clips about your favourite books/characters.

Our Upper Semi Formal group are creating a treasure hunt for other classrooms to do.

We will no doubt have some wonderful photos to share with you in next week's edition.

Employment for People with SEND / Learning Disability

Online Event
Date: 4th March 2021
Time: 9:30am - 10:30am
Cost: FREE, open to all

Mark Capper from Royal Mencap Society will explain Mencap's four employment programmes and how they, and other organisations offering similar support, help people with SEND/Learning Disability find their way into the labour market.

Our college students decided to utilise their spare time by partaking in some therapeutic baking. The choice to make chocolate drizzle shortbread fingers was not frowned upon by the staff who managed to sneak a lovely little sample.

Food technology is popular with most of our children and who can blame them with so many different smells and flavours to experience. Does your child love to bake? If so then this would be a fantastic opportunity to show off their culinary skills. Please let us know if you would like us to apply on your child's behalf.

UKS4/KS5 Semi Formal Class have been busy making greetings cards in their Enterprise lesson. They have named their business Cosy Posey Cards and this is a collection of their first batch of cards.

They will be working on their marketing strategy to promote any products that they make so watch this space...

Finally and most importantly!

As I am sure you are all aware, we are pleased to announce that as of Monday 8th March, normal schooling will resume along with the usual attendance laws.

We are aware that some children may be highly anxious about returning, having being out of their usual routines for long periods of time. Rest assured, our staff are well prepared and they will continue with their bespoke teaching to get the children back on track with the curriculum.

If you have any concerns or queries prior to your child's return please contact Kim on admin@welburn-hall.n-yorks.sch.uk

MENUS:As of the week commencing 1st March we will start to have the vegetarian option available again. The week commencing 8th March will be our week 2 menu please ask for a copy if needed.

Please visit our Welburn Hall Facebook page for other weekly news.

Enjoy your weekend!
