Heads-up!

Dear Parents and Carers,

What a lovely summery week we have had, the garlic is in full bloom and the aroma is amazing! It also means we need to think about hydration, sun hats and sun cream now to keep the pupils safe and healthy.

Just a mention that the College residential trip to Peat Rigg takes place all next week, we hope that all the students have a wonderful experience they will always remember and thanks to all staff involved in planning and delivery of the trip!

Please can I remind you to make sure that the office staff have your phone numbers, emails and address up to date, because we've had a couple of glitches recently where messages have got lost, thank you in advance!

Have a lovely weekend

Marianne

Musical Detectives

For the last few weeks Mr Western's class have taken part in Musical Detectives, a series of musical workshops to encourage listening, watching and play, via games, songs and musical instruments.

They focused on African themes, choosing pictures and matching sounds to them. From this the class produced a soundscape, which they then performed and recorded. As the weeks went on class confidence grew and everyone engaged really well.

It was birthday celebrations this week in Pre-Formal; lots of disco frivolity and fun was enjoyed by all.
The proceedings were nicely finished off with homemade birthday cake – yum.

If this wonderful hot weather continues - please can we ask that parents apply sun cream to their child before school.

Students should all have their own bottle of sun cream, with their name on it, stored in their school bag (where supervision is required, we'll keep it safe in class).

We need parents' consent to reapply it, so if we don't already have written consent, we'll have to give you a call.
Thank you in advance!

Miss Leetham's Pre-Formal girls made cheese straws this week and they looked even better than Thomas the Bakers!

Those who didn't like cheese made jam twists instead.
